I am reaching out to notify you of opportunities for Barnard College students to engage in volunteering and service-learning abroad with One Heart Source in Jamaica and South Africa next summer. Our upcoming application deadline is December 4.

One Heart Source (OHS) is an entrepreneurial non-profit organization that designs and catalyzes education programs that empower vulnerable people and communities with choice and opportunity. The organization’s model of international mentorship connects university students to vulnerable youth and communities across cultural, social, and economic boundaries. With its partner communities in Jamaica, South Africa, and Tanzania, the OHS International Collective provides holistic care and academic excellence as a means of ending the vicious cycle of generational poverty. We believe students of Barnard College would benefit greatly from the experience of volunteering and teaching abroad.

I would greatly appreciate it if you would consider sending the following information (below the line) about volunteering in South Africa and Jamaica to students through your mailing list or social media. Please let me know if the message can be forwarded.

If you would like to stop receiving information about our service-learning and immersion programs abroad, please unsubscribe, and we will not contact you again.

Respectfully,

Callan Hajosy

Attention Students of Barnard College,

One Heart Source is currently accepting applications for our 2016 Volunteer Programs. We are offering a variety of 2 and 4 week programs in Jamaica and South Africa!

As an OHS Volunteer you will:

- Mentor students to realize measurable academic growth and cultivate life-long relationships.
- Immerse yourself in diversity through service, workshops, and excursions.
- Collaborate with small cohorts of university students from around the world.
- Develop empathy, confidence, and leadership skills through the pursuit of social justice.
